

MAD LIBS THEATER

INSTRUCTIONS

Mad Libs Theater is a semi-improvised skit performed by your students, with a plot and dialogue determined by some fill-in-the-blanks you ask your students to complete in advance. If you keep this activity simple, with no props or costumes, you can perform the skit immediately after completing the fill-in-the-blanks. But if you want to make this a little more fun, we recommend completing the fill-in-the-blanks at the beginning of your service, then having a volunteer create some makeshift costumes or props during your game and worship time, so they're ready to use during your teaching time. These props shouldn't be elaborate! They can be made of cardboard and construction paper. Weirder is better for this kind of activity. Either way, here are the basic instructions...

1. MAKE CUE CARDS: On poster board (where your actors can see them from a distance) write out the script with blanks to be filled in later.
2. FILL IN THE BLANKS: As a large group, ask students for suggestions for each of the prompts on the right. Don't give them any context for why you're asking these questions and choose the funniest or weirdest suggestions you hear. As you choose your words, have a volunteer fill in the blanks on the cue cards, being careful to keep them a secret from students.
3. MAKE PROPS & COSTUMES: Once your script is complete, use it to gather or create props and costumes for your skit.
4. CHOOSE YOUR ACTORS: You'll need at least four actors for this skit (two adventurers, one guide, and one monster) but you can add more actors by increasing the number of adventurers or adding animals.
5. CHOOSE YOUR NARRATOR: You'll need someone who can read out loud clearly and can keep their composure when things get weird!
6. PERFORM YOUR SKIT: Your actors should not see the script in advance. As the narrator reads it out loud, your actors must act out what they're hearing or read their lines on the spot!

FILL-IN-THE-BLANKS

1. Word to describe your best friend.
2. Tropical fruit.
3. Word to describe the last movie you watched.
4. Object in your home.
5. Animal.
6. Somewhere you like to hang out.
7. Action word describing how you got here to there.
8. What you'd do if I threw a dodgeball at your head.
9. Something scary.
10. Animal.
11. Number.
12. Unit of time.
13. A word. Like, literally any word.
14. Descriptive word.
15. Mythical creature.
16. Something you'd keep in your closet.
17. A person or character with a distinctive voice.
18. Number.
19. Unit of time or distance.
20. Something that makes a distinct sound.
21. A not-human height.
22. What your school cafeteria smells like.
23. Something gross.
24. Something you'd use to attach two things together.
25. Weird animal.
26. Mythical creature.
27. A craft you made when you were a little kid.
28. The weirdest sound you can make.
29. A gibberish word.
30. Any action word.
31. Body part.
32. Something not everyone can do well. (But don't pick the word "sing.")
33. Number.
34. A song everyone here probably knows.
35. A person (famous or not-famous) everyone here probably knows.

SCRIPT

Deep in the heart of the jungle, a group of brave adventurers known as the 1 2 -s was on a very 3 quest. Their mission? Steal a magical 4 from the king of the 5 -s and take it to 6 to be destroyed. But they had to be cautious! Because this jungle was inhabited by a vicious monster who loved to eat brave adventurers. Especially 2 -flavored ones.

The 1 2 -s traveled on. They 7 -ed through raging rivers, 8 -ed under low-hanging branches, dodged 9 -s, and even stopped to pet a 10 . But after 11 long 12 -s of travel, the 1 2 -s finally had to admit... they were lost. All together they shouted, " 13 !"

Suddenly, a 14 15 emerged from the shadows. It was wearing 15 and its voice sounded a lot like 17 's. "You called?" it asked.

"Who are you?!" the adventurers demanded. "Duh. I'm 13 . You called me."

"Pretty weird name," they said, "but can you help us? We've been traveling for 11 long 12 -s and we need some help. We're trying to find the king of the 5 -s so we can steal his magical 4 and take it to 6 . Also we don't want to be eaten by the monster."

"Oh sure, I can help you! Just go that way for 18 19 -s. You're basically already there. And yes, I'll tell you how to get past the monster."

The 1 2 -s listened carefully to 13 's instructions and took careful notes. Their new guide had a weird name but they were so glad to receive their wise guidance.

Finally, our adventurers went on their way.

Suddenly, they heard a sound like a 20 . The monster was terrifying. It was 21 tall and it smelled like 22 and 23 all mixed together. It looked like nothing they had ever seen before—like if you 24 -ed a 25 to a 26 but it was all made out of 27 . Instead of a roar, it made a sound like, " 28 !" It was pretty freaky.

They yelled, " 29 !" This time, no help came. But that's okay! Because they knew exactly what to do to defeat this monster. They were ready to follow the 15 's instructions. All together, they 30 -ed their 31 -s. They 32 -ed 33 times. They sang 34 at the top of their lungs, all while doing their best 35 impression.

The monster looked at them, puzzled. The 1 2 -s looked back, waiting for the monster to die, or run away, or melt into a puddle, or do whatever monsters do when they're defeated.

And then the monster ate them. Because that 15 actually didn't know anything about monsters and you really shouldn't take advice from strange mythical jungle creatures named 13 without checking their references. The end.